Infused Organic SESAME Oil*

Research indicates Sesame Oil promotes higher absorption of cannabinoids*

Sesame oil as a medium for cannabinoids is proving to have 2.5-3X the absorption rate of other mediums. As well as systemic circulation into the bloodstream, THC and CBD prepared in an infusion with sesame oil showed increased intestinal absorption directly into the lymphatic system, without first pass metabolism (which can be degraded by the liver). The lymphatic system is a huge contributor to our overall immune system so it follows that cannabinoids delivered via sesame oil will have more efficacy in supporting our body's immune function. See Dr. Michael Moskowitz' article regarding this from February newsletter here.

Cannabis and Coronavirus: How can Cannabis contribute to your support system in terms of dealing with Covid-19?

by Elana Cydney Vollen

Well, here we are; Life as we know it, for just about every human being world-wide, has been utterly shifted and re-arranged. We are forced into new routines, new ways of finding connection, perhaps new ways of taking care of ourselves that we never considered before.

(Daily zinc lozenges and nasal-douching anyone?). I think most of us, save for a few savvy epidemiologists, did not see this coming.

~Doctor's Corner~

Dr. Michael Moskowitz on Covid-19

If you have done your research, you know by now that SARS Corona-2 is the name of the virus causing COVID-19. Many are projecting that this could be the worst pandemic since the Spanish Flu. While it is possible that will be the case, what is also very possible is that due to modern day advances in medicine and technology, and our efforts to distance ourselves and build into our lives new systems of self care, we could prove the projections wrong.
