Synergy: Vape Cartridges Are Safe!

Many people have seen the recent news items about vape-related deaths and so we wanted to send out a message to put our customers' minds at ease:

Nothing is added to our concentrates (vape cartridges and syringes).

Concentrates are extracted using the CO2 extraction process (considered to be the cleanest method of extraction). The extracts are made from the cannabis flowers that we provide to our processor directly and nothing else. To be clear, there are no additives, preservatives, colorants, thickening agents nor flavors added (including Vitamin E acetate, propylene glycol and glycerin) - JUST CANNABIS.

Here is a bit about the CO2 extraction process from our website:

CO2 extraction is a super critical process using extreme high pressure combined with very low temperatures. In this environment the CO2 is a liquid and is flushed through the flowers, acting as a solvent extracting the pure cannabis oil. No toxic chemicals like butane, hexane or naphtha are used. It is fully decarboxylated and comes in a dispensing applicator for easy dosing without getting the sticky oil all over everything.

The debate about which is healthier - smoking or vaping - has yet to be resolved scientifically; evidence leans toward vaping (extracts without any additives) as the particulate load is less and people who can no longer smoke due to throat sensitivity can typically vape without irritation.

Vaping flowers with a high quality convection vaporizer is probably the best method of all because then you are getting a full-spectrum cannabis experience without smoke inhalation. Vaping extracts would be a close second (such as the ones we sell in cartridge form).

We carry a wide selection of raw CBD flowers ranging from lower ratio (2:1) up to higher ratio (25:1) for those who choose not to vape for whatever reason. Flowers are a good option when a trusted source for concentrates is not available.

We hope this clarifies any concern you might have regarding the safety of our vape products. Please let us know if you have further questions.
